Applicants must also be at their first registration at the Doctorate level. They must therefore either be newly enrolled or in the process of being registered at the Doctorate level.

Instructions to submit candidacy

All application forms must be filled on-line except for the signature and the date at the very end, which are to be handwritten. Application forms must be printed on standard white paper and only allotted spaces are to be filled out. Reverse side of paper is to be left blank. A regular wallet-size photo is to be attached to page 1 of the application form where indicated.

Supporting documents to be submitted are clearly indicated on the application form. However, a check-list of these documents at the very end should be useful. Only requested documents are to be submitted.

No document submitted will be returned to a candidate. Accordingly, the Foundation insists that only photocopies of personal documents be submitted for its files. During the interview, candidates will be asked to provide original documents to be examined by qualified personnel of the Foundation. These documents will be given back to the candidate at the end of the interview.

A complete candidacy application comprises three copies of candidacy. (One copy being one application form and a copy of each of the annexed documents to be submitted by the candidate (see Part A of check-list).) The file itself must be submitted to your university.

Submissions by applicants directly to the Foundation will not be retained or considered. This applies to the application form, supporting documents, letters of reference and any other documents sent separately to the Foundation.

Each university has established its own internal procedures and deadlines and it is the applicant's responsibility to be informed and to respect these regulations. Each university will submit seven nominees to the Foundation. For l'Université de Montréal, the Département d'Informatique will select one candidate, l'École Polytechnique, four candidates, and les Hautes Études Commerciales, two candidates. Each complete file accompanied by a formal letter of nomination, signed by the President, the Principal, the Rector or a departmental Dean must be submitted directly to the Foundation by the university itself. Finalists will be contacted by mid-September 2011 and interviews will take place in September 2011. The Foundation will make its choice solely from candidates submitted by participating universities but is not committed to awarding a specific number of scholarships. Scholarship recipients will be notified by mid-October 2011.

Instructions and selection criteria

Three letters of reference must accompany a candidacy file. Two of the letters of reference must be from academic referees (pertaining to academic achievement but one may refer to leadership of candidate in university milieu) and one from a non-academic referee (dealing with non-academic aspects of the candidate outside of university environment).

All reference letters must be written on official letterhead of the organization, be signed by referee with mention of title and coordinates and sent directly by mail, in a sealed envelope, to the appropriate university office.

Any false statement in a scholarship application made to the Fondation Universitaire Pierre Arbour will automatically disqualify the applicant and entail termination of any funding by the Foundation. The Foundation shall have the right to recover any funds disbursed.

The Fondation Universitaire Pierre Arbour has policies to protect the privacy of personal information in candidate files.

I certify that my declarations in this application form are true and accurate.
